

TPS Holders from El Salvador Make the U.S. Stronger

Some 170,000 Salvadoran Temporary Protected Status (TPS) holders live across the United States, including in

California

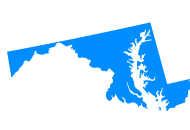

36,000

Texas

28,000

Maryland

23,000

New York

17,000

Virginia

11,000

Salvadoran TPS holders contribute an estimated $5.4 billion to the U.S. economy each year, and annually pay $1.5 billion in combined federal, state, and local taxes.

Some 152,000 Salvadoran TPS holders are in the U.S. workforce, including:

36,000

IN CONSTRUCTION

32,000

IN BUILDING AND GROUNDS

23,000

IN TRANSPORTATION

18,000

IN MANUFACTURING

12,000

IN FOOD SERVICES

Salvadoran TPS holders contribute billions of dollars each year to metro economies:

Washington, D.C.	$965 million
New York	$668 million
Houston	$590 million
Los Angeles	$555 million
Dallas-Fort Worth	$239 million

Forcing Salvadoran TPS holders out of their jobs would drive up costs for everyday Americans, raising the prices of food, goods, health care, and critical services.

More than 150,000 U.S. citizen children depend on their Salvadoran TPS parent's contributions to the U.S. workforce.

Salvadoran TPS holders make states stronger

California

31,000 Salvadoran TPS workforce, including 6,000 transportation and 5,000 construction workers.

TPS holders in California contribute $387 million each year to the economy.

Texas

23,000 Salvadoran TPS workforce, including 5,000 building and grounds and 4,000 construction workers.

TPS holders in Texas contribute $410 million each year to the economy.

Maryland

20,000 Salvadoran TPS workforce, including 7,000 construction and 5,000 building and grounds workers.

TPS holders in Maryland contribute $809 million each year to the economy.

New York

15,000 Salvadoran TPS workforce, including 4,000 construction and 3,000 building and grounds workers.

TPS holders in New York contribute $501 million each year to the economy.

Virginia

10,000 Salvadoran TPS workforce, including 3,000 construction and 1,000 manufacturing workers.

In all, Salvadoran TPS holders in Virginia contribute $730 million each year to the economy.

Data, Methods, Notes

Population and worker estimates are based on augmented 2024 American Community Survey (ACS). Total number of TPS holders is as of early 2025. All estimates were prepared by Dr. Phillip Connor, Research Fellow at Princeton University's Center for Migration and Development. See phillip-connor.com for more information on the ACS methodology. Economic contribution is the total annual income after the payment of taxes.